

We commune together with God because God makes the invitation to us. Whenever we worship, we hear God's promises to be with us and join with us in this life. "This is my body... This is my blood..." we hear Jesus say and believe that as he says it, we can trust him at his word. The gift of Communion is offered at all worship services. As we trust this to be the Lord's Table, all are invited to share in this feast as God calls them. In this meal, we receive Christ himself and are made whole in his love, set free to go out into the world as agents of God's grace.
